Our Services and Solutions

Consulting Service to Build an International Business

Do you constantly hear and say the following sentences?

I want to start my own business. I want to trade at home and abroad. I want to sell products or services, what should I sell? Where can I get products and services? How will the contract, logistics, customs, payment be made? Where should I learn about legal obligations and processes?

The answer to all these questions is in the World Trade organization. You can offer your products and services to the world with our consultancy services.

Our Services and Solutions

International Law Consultancy

Not only International trade but also all sectors have their own rules. Sector-specific contracts require experience. A small mistake can cause grievous material losses. Besides, the ways and the laws of the work in each sector are completely different from each other. There is a separate commercial law in all sectors such as mining, textile, logistics, software, energy, etc. Trade rules vary by payment methods.

We provide consultancy services with our Contracted Consultants in all these matters. Please contact us to protect your company with contracts in regional or international trade.

Our Services and Solutions

Our Services and Solutions

Sectors and Competitors Analysis

In order to be successful, the situation of your company, products or services in the sector must be analyzed. Sector knowledge, competitor and competition data are needed in the sector before acting. It is not meaningful to set goals without data. Therefore, firstly, sector analysis should be done. Then, short, medium and long-term planning should be done according to the target.

Planning should be done with the Process Management to bring all the information together.

Our Services and Solutions

Process Management and Business Analysis

The initial due diligence of companies, businesses or services is important. Analysis is important for short, medium and long-term planning. Situation analysis is necessary to plan, market and win the future. Every company, product or service is a project. It is important to make short, medium and long term plans for each project.

An action plan should be created to fulfill the items in each plan. It will be much easier to achieve success as a result of these coherent and result-oriented actions.

Our Services and Solutions
